Buy Your Books At BOOK FAIR December 6, 7, 8 and 9

Co-Chairmen Alice Fine and Roz Haber want to alert the congregation to watch their mail for the arrival of the flyer announcing BOOK FAIR 5742. Sponsored by Parents Association, BOOK FAIR this year will hold many happy surprises for young and old.

Once again it will be possible to order best-sellers and other hardcover books in advance of BOOK FAIR at a 15% discount off the hardcover price. But, once BOOK FAIR opens, it will be still possible to order books, but at list only. So, return your order quickly.

There will be an opportunity for parents to visit BOOK FAIR with their child's class to help their child make their cash-and-carry selections. BOOK FAIR also provides a best opportunity to purchase books for Hanukkah gift giving.

If you are planning to attend any of the other functions at the synagogue during BOOK FAIR remember to leave time to browse and buy at BOOK FAIR too.

Annual Sisterhood Luncheon Takes Place December 9

A formula for success can be seen in the manner in which Sisterhood conducts its major fundraising event year after year: the annual Sisterhood luncheon. Chaired this year by Mrs. Mina Klein and ably assisted by her co-chairman, Mrs. Sylvia Fine, the luncheon promises to be fun.

This year the luncheon takes place on Wednesday, December 9 in the Lemberg Auditorium beginning at 11:30 A.M. Cantor David Lefkowitz will once again charm those present with a program of art songs.

The purchase of one raffle book, already mailed to the congregation, for $35 entitles the purchaser to attend the luncheon. With the raffle prizes getting more and more glamorous year by year, it pays to buy as many raffle books as one can, or better still, to sell raffles to friends and neighbors. For those present at the luncheon itself, a special raffle, chaired by Mrs. Clara Friedman, will be held. The prize of this raffle is a trip to Las Vegas.

38th Annual Service Of Contemporary Liturgical Music Features Early Music Of Max Helfman

On Friday night, December 18 at 8:30 P.M., the congregation will gather to hear and to participate in the 38th Annual Service of Contemporary Liturgical Music. This service is an eagerly awaited event on the synagogue calendar and in the Jewish music community.

The music featured on that evening will be that of Max Helfman, long recognized as the outstanding composer of 20th century Jewish music. Much of the work to be presented on that evening will be music composed early in his career, which has remained largely unknown and unpublished, but which has been made available to Cantor Lefkowitz by Max Helfman's widow, Florence.

Cantor Lefkowitz observed that it is interesting to see the seeds of the later, mature work of this great creative artist in these early pieces. The genius of Max Helfman lay in his ability to write music which was distinctly new but which retained the richness and authenticity of the ancient Hebraic tradition. Always present in his work is exquisite melody, a clarity of structure and an elegance of expression.

Many members of our congregation will recall that Max Helfman was the conductor of this service for many years.

Cantor David Lefkowitz will be joined by Abraham Kaplan conducting the Synagogue Concert Choir with Neil Robinson at the organ.

Plan now to attend this most unusual service and musical event.

Patrons Club To Expand Goals And Purpose

Arnold L. Sabin, a Vice-President of the Congregation and Chairman of the annual dinner held in the synagogue to benefit the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, has accepted an additional responsibility: Chairman of Patrons Club. He succeeds Abraham I. Sherr, Honorary President of the synagogue, who served as Chairman of Patrons Club with distinction.

Patrons Club is a unique institution. Membership is open to those congregants who are willing to support financially the programs of the synagogue year with an additional annual contribution of $1000 or more, over and above synagogue membership dues. (Donor and Sponsor categories are also available.)

Mr. Sabin, in assuming the chairmanship of Patrons Club, welcomes all those who feel they can to join with him in this unique fellowship of purpose. He is also looking to widen the goals and purpose of Patrons Club. To that end he has scheduled a first meeting of the committee for Thursday, November 5 at 8 P.M.

All those interested in joining with Mr. Sabin in this "ideas" meeting, please attend this meeting or call, Executive Director, Barrie Modlin at 369-2600.

Sherr Institute Offers Diverse Opportunities For Study

Many opportunities are available to the congregation to study in the Sherr Institute of Adult Jewish Studies. Classes began the last week of October, but there is still time to enroll. Consult the Institute's brochure for detailed information. The brochure was mailed to the congregation but, if you have not received a copy, call the Synagogue Office at 369-2600, and request that a copy be mailed to you.

Rabbi Wechsler will once again teach a course on "Talmud for Non-Talmudists" on Wednesday evenings.

Mr. Jeffrey Segelman offers a course on "Returning to Judaism" on Monday evenings. In November there is offered "A Guide to the Synagogue Service" and in December three Monday evenings will be devoted to the study of "Hanukkah: Being A Jew In Modern Times."

Too tired to study at night? Then join the Lunch 'N' Study group for four sessions which will meet the first Tuesday of every month beginning November 3. Or study during the day with Mrs. Vivian Finkel, teacher extraordinaire, and learn to read, speak and write Hebrew. If you prefer, Hebrew is also taught Monday Sherr Institute: Cont'd. on page 6, column 1.

Rabbi Nadich

Member Of U.S. Delegation At International Conference

Will Report To Congregation At Friday Night Service, November 13

Rabbi Judah Nadich served as a member of the United States Delegation that participated in the International Liberators Conference at the State Department in Washington, D.C. from October 26 to 28, 1981.

Invited to the conference were official delegations from 13 countries, including countries of the Eastern Bloc. The largest delegations came from England, France, the Soviet Union and the United States. Members of the delegations consisted of those who had served in the armies that liberated the survivors of the Nazi concentration camps in Germany, Austria, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia toward the end of World War II.

The conference was convened by the United States Holocaust Memorial Council. At plenary sessions eyewitness accounts of the liberation were given by the participants. Historians, archivists and members of war crimes tribunals were involved in the discussions. Also included in the program were a reception in the Diplomatic Rooms of the State Department and a dinner at the Smithsonian Institution.

Rabbi Nadich participated in the opening session on the first evening and was a speaker in a panel discussion on the second afternoon in which Roman Catholic and Protestant military chaplains of World War II and theologians participated. He will present an account of this unusual conference — the first of its kind — at the first late Friday night service of the winter season, the service in honor of New Members, on November 13 at 8:30 P.M.

A Tribute To Judah and Hadassah Nadich

This Rosh Hashanah marked the twenty-fifth year Rabbi Judah Nadich has presided over the services for the High Holy Days. It was a singular milestone for the synagogue and for him. One could write an extended encomium on the contributions of Rabbi Nadich and the magnificent support provided by his beloved, and our beloved, Hadassah. It is also possible to say it very simply — they have enriched our lives and they have maintained and enhanced the fine traditions of Park Avenue Synagogue.

We pray that God grant them many years in happiness and in health.

New Works Of Art
Given To Synagogue

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Katz have presented to the Park Avenue Synagogue a fascinating ceramic sculpture, entitled "The Lamed Voynik" in celebration of the Bat Mitzvah of their daughter, Melissa, taking place on December 19.

The piece is the work of Mrs. Katz — Judy — and was on exhibit with a number of her other works at her one-woman show at the Azuma Gallery in Soho. The title refers to Jewish myth that at any one time there are thirty-six righteous men in the world who, through their existence save the world from destruction. In Hebrew lamed vov is 36.

In addition the synagogue has received a set of lithographs by the Israeli artist, Shalom of Safed, Israel's "Grandma Moses." The donors are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Welt. The Jewish Museum's exhibit of the work of this primitive artist before his recent death drew large crowds. The gaily colored lithos now adorn the walls of our Elementary School to the delight of the school children, teachers and parents.

Volunteers Needed By Book Fair
December 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9

"Volunteers are needed to help make BOOK FAIR the best ever!", so say Co-Chairmen Alice Fine and Rox Haber.

Book Fair is a major undertaking of Parents Association; this year it takes place on December 6-9. Volunteers are needed to help set up BOOK FAIR on Saturday evening, December 5 beginning at 8 P.M., as well as to act as sales personnel all day Sunday, December 6 and then from Noon to 8 P.M. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 7, 8 and 9.

You don't need to be an expert to help out at BOOK FAIR. On the spot training will be provided by the chairmen of the event.

So, whatever time you have to give, be it an hour or a day, please call Alice Fine, 472-1528 or Rox Haber, 722-3614 and volunteer. You'll have a good time and provide a much needed service to the synagogue community.

New Sculptured Gates
A Work Of Art

Just in time for the High Holy Days our new school building, a national award winner and praised by the architecture critic of the NEW YORK TIMES, was made even more beautiful by the installation of the new sculptured iron gates at both the Madison Avenue and 87th Street entrances, given in memory of Mr. Emanuel Stein and Mr. Maurice Peltz.

The gates, taking a year to complete, were made by the P.A. Fiebigler Iron Works of New York, one of the few in America engaging in this art. The Hebrew letters at the top of the gates form the words of Psalm 118, verse 19, "Open the gates of righteousness for me." The lettering was done by Brooke Roberts of Tiverton, Rhode Island, who is also responsible for the lettering on the stone of the facade facing Madison Avenue.

The medallions on the gates portray a tree, a rampant lion, the Star of David, the lulav, the palm branch, and the etrog, the citron, and, lastly, a crown.

The tree represents the Tree of Life, suggesting our belief in the eternal life of Judaism and of the Jewish people when linked to Torah, as the verse puts it (Proverbs, 3:18), "It is a tree of life to those who hold fast to it."

The lion is the Lion of Judah, symbolizing the eternal strength of the Jewish people. The Star of David links us with the ancient Jewish kingdom over which David reigned and with the state of Israel today. The lulav and etrog are used on Sukkot, called "The Festival of Our Rejoicing." Hence, they speak of the joy and the beauty in Jewish tradition and religious practice. The crown represents the crown of Torah and also is a reminder of the teaching in Pirke Avot that there are three crowns: the crown of royalty, the crown of priesthood and the crown of learning, but the crown of a good name surpasses them all. It symbolizes, most of all, our recognition that God alone is king and that we accept His rule over us.

Every part of the gates is the result of artistic design and fashioning, including the exact matching of the gate panels and special locks of the style once used in European castles.

WANTED

Photographs are sought for Park Avenue Synagogue Centennial history. The congregation is asked to loan any photographs they may have of Park Avenue Synagogue — weddings in sanctuary, other events showing the synagogue and its members — to the Centennial Committee for reproduction purposes. All photos will be returned.

Please contact Rabbi Wechsler's secretary during business hours at 369-2600.

First Friday In Month Continues As Time For Family Service

On the first Friday night of the month, beginning in November, families are especially invited to come and worship together at the early service, which begins at 5:45 P.M. The service is conducted, through the winter months, by classes in the Elementary Department, and the congregation is always invited to join with them in their joyous welcoming in of the Sabbath.

At the first early service of the winter, on Friday, November 6, students in the Alef grade will be consecrated. This is an important event in the lives of our first graders as it marks the beginning of their serious study in our school. In honor of the centennial celebration of the congregation this year, the Alef graders will present Bet Hakeneset — "The Synagogue" — readings based upon what they are studying about the synagogue in class.

A reception in honor of the Alef grade and their families will take place after the service.

The teachers of the two Alef classes are Mrs. Lea Degani and Mrs. Sara Soltes.

At the next Family Service, Friday, December 4, the students in the Gimel grade will conduct the service. A traditional Friday evening dinner will follow for the children and their families in the Lemberg Auditorium.

Mrs. Miri Kessar, Ms. Varda Hubara and Ms. Zippora Rubin are the teachers of the three sections of grade Gimel.

Generous Gift Of I.M. Cohen Creates Endowment Fund For Education

Mr. Isidore M. Cohen, a long-time leader and benefactor of Park Avenue Synagogue, recently gave the congregation a gift of $100,000 for scholarships and for the general purpose of sustaining Jewish education for children in our schools.

In discussing with Rabbi Nadich his intention to make this generous contribution, Mr. Cohen spoke of his keen interest in the importance of Jewish education both for the well-being of each child and for the strength of Judaism in America.

This magnificent gift of Mr. Cohen will be used to establish a separate fund to be known as the Endowment Fund for Jewish Education at the Park Avenue Synagogue. It will serve to support and strengthen Jewish education in our schools, recognized for their excellence.

The congregation is most grateful to Mr. I.M. Cohen for this latest act of generosity in his long and fruitful relationship with the Park Avenue Synagogue.

What's Happening In The High School?

ITEM: The first summer program of the Helpern-Wimpfheimer Fellowship has been judged so successful that plans to extend its program to include a preceding spring semester experience in Israel is being considered.

Eleven recent graduates of the High School program: Susan Bandler, McGill '81; Alex Berger, Cornell '83; Walter Charnizon, Vassar '84; Phil Gelman, University of Pennsylvania '84; Ira Glazer, University of Michigan '82; Barbara Kaufman, University of Michigan '82; Larry Kraus, Brandeis '84; Elizabeth Leiman, Harvard '81; Erica Marks, Wellesley '84; Stefanie Siegmund, Amherst '84 and Audrey Wolff, University of Michigan '84, spent six weeks at the Israel Goldstein Youth Village in Jerusalem as participants in an exceedingly intensive training program which will enable them to serve as staff members on future summer educational travel programs sponsored by the High School Department.

The Helpern-Wimpfheimer Fellowship is named in honor of two women, Mrs. Lillian Helpern and Mrs. Vicki Wimpfheimer, whose efforts while co-chairmen of the Park Avenue Synagogue School Board raised the standards of the school, in all its departments, to the pre-eminence it now enjoys in Jewish education circles.

Conceived and directed by Peter Geffen, Principal of the High School, the Helpern-Wimpfheimer Fellowship is funded by various private grants in addition to the High School Endowment Fund. For more information about this program, please contact Peter Geffen, 369-2600.

ITEM: We welcome two new faculty members to the High School staff this year: Hana Abesbaum and Jonathan Lipnick.

Hana worked as a staff member with the High School group in Israel this summer and her popularity with the students was so great that she was prevailed upon to join the High School staff for the academic year. Her responsibilities include coordinating all youth activities during the school year.

Jon is an actor, bringing to the school his interest and expertise in stage and film. A new course offering this year is "Jewish Identity in American Film" which explores the changing image of the American Jew as presented in films over the past fifty years. Through the use of rented video cassettes, the High School's VCR and color TV, the class is able to see a full length film each Sunday and then discuss the film in class each Wednesday.

Music That Lives!: Part II

In the last issue of the BULLETIN, I began a thoughtful "response" to an indictment leveled at Hazzanim which appeared in a recent Newsweek Magazine article. I would like to continue that response with the question: Are the unique traditions and cantorial chants of the synagogue disappearing and dying? I think not. Both Conservative and Reform cantorial schools have larger enrollments today than in the past with student bodies of dedicated and talented men and women.

However, what I do see as a problem is the lack of opportunity for young, unaffiliated Jews to be exposed to the musical heritage of our people. Clearly, Jewish music is one of our most valuable links to those past communities of our collective history. The more we know of that music, the better we can understand who and what we are as Jews. At one time the synagogue worship service was the primary as well as the best source for that educational experience. It is no longer true because so many young Jews find themselves far removed from the synagogue. Also, with the shortened worship service that exists in many synagogues today, it is feasible to dedicate only a very small part of any service to music for aesthetic purposes alone.

Therefore, I believe the time has come for the musical treasures of our people, both past and present, to reach the general community through additional avenues. Recordings, television, the concert hall, these are all logical and valuable sources for the ever-increasing pleasurable experience of hearing Jewish music.

— David Lefkowitz

High School

positive reputation of the High School among young people who have little or no previous Jewish education. The flexibility of the program enables students to enter, pursue and develop interests, regardless of their previous educational background, or lack of it. Please continue to spread the word that teenagers of members and non-members are welcome at any time during the year to begin an individualized program of Jewish education geared to their special interests and abilities. There are no requirements and no minimum standards to meet. Motivation and interest are the only criteria.

Singles Coordinating Committee Activities Calendar

Under the auspices of the Singles Coordinating Committee, the Single Parents Workshop and the Singles Group 30-50 plan to sponsor a number of different activities this winter.

Coming soon, on Tuesday, November 10 at 8:15 P.M. there will be a Tea held for Single Parents. And on Thursday, December 17 the famous Hanukkah Party for Single Parents and their children will take place. This Hanukkah Party became famous because it served as a model of what parents can do who do not celebrate Christmas, in a world that does.

Open to single parents who are members of the synagogue, or who have children who attend the religious school, and their friends, these two events will be followed by an Oneg Shabbat later this winter.

The Park Avenue Synagogue Singles Group, for men and women 30-50, announces two events, one in November and one in December, to which their members and friends are cordially invited:

On Wednesday, November 18, a Game Night in the Lemberg Auditorium will take place and then on Monday night, December 21, there will be a "Grab Bag For Singles," a Hanukkah Party.

Information on these events and on future events planned for the winter months by the Single Parents Workshop and the Singles Group 30-50 may be obtained through Rabbi Wechsler's secretary, 369-2600.

Men's Club Wants You To Join It In A Year Of Satisfying Activity

"This is the year for every man in the congregation to join Men's Club," said President Alan Bandler, recently. "Men's Club offers programs through the year of timely interest to the congregation and to the community. It also does an important mitzvah through its maintenance of the daily minyan project and for the elders of the Jewish community living on the Lower East Side, through Project Ezra. Men's Club also enables men to meet socially and become friends through a common interest. For these, and many other reasons, the men of our congregation should join us and participate in our activities."

Men's Club holds an open Board Meeting the second Tuesday of every month at 8 P.M. in the synagogue and the men of the congregation are cordially invited to attend.

On Sunday, November 22, Men's Club will host the New York Metropolitan Region of the National Federation of Men's Clubs at the synagogue. This day-long event will feature workshops and a luncheon. Those interested in attending should contact Charles Bennet at AT 9-8505, evenings, for further information.

Then on Tuesday, November 24 at 8 P.M., Men's Club will hold an open meeting to which the congregation is invited.

The annual Hanukkah party for the elderly men and women aided by Project Ezra will be held in December. For information on how you can assist in bringing this mitzvah into being, please contact Alan Bandler at SA 2-6687, evenings.
